

Email Disclosures

The companies of Northland Capital Holdings, Inc. (“Northland”) do not accept the following information via e-mail: buy, sell, or cancel orders; instructions that include private non-public information; or instructions that require a signature.

Information contained in email communications is not considered an official record of any investment account and does not supersede normal trade confirmations or statements. Any information provided has been prepared from sources believed to be reliable but not guaranteed, and may not contain all information necessary for making investment decisions. The information is intended to be used for informational purposes only. Northland Securities does not provide tax or legal advice.

Any information received by or sent to Northland is not considered private, is subject to regular review by supervisory personnel, and may be provided to regulatory authorities or others with a legal right to this information.

Unless specified by the sender, email messages are not encrypted; therefore, information sent to or received from a Northland employee may not be secure.

Emails (including any attachments) may contain privileged or confidential information. It is intended only for the addressee(s) indicated. The sender does not waive any of its rights, privileges, or other protections respecting this information. Any distribution, use, or copying of an e-mail or the information it contains by someone other than the intended recipient, is unauthorized. If you received an e-mail from Northland in error, please advise the sender via return email or phone and delete the message from your system without copying it.

Please be advised that any information or materials you may send via e-mail/internet may not be strictly confidential. Therefore, any information you may provide via e-mail or internet submission will be archived and available for search and review by supervisory or compliance personnel as required by legal statute.
